

New Website IA

IA = Information Architecture.
Information architecture is the organization and labeling of electronic content in order to help users find relevant content and complete tasks.

Based upon user research, usability activities, and personnel surveys, Western Libraries' new website will feature five main content categories.

Get Help

Patrons come here to use curricular, curricular-embedded, and co-curricular services.

Find

Patrons come here to find scholarly and research materials.

Use the Libraries

Patrons come here to use available spaces, services, and technology.

About the Libraries

Patrons come here to access general library information.

My Accounts

Patrons come here to access their accounts in a single location.

